Nicky Eveleigh, GWII Past President reflects on GWII's decade of success

As I reflect on the last decade of Gauteng Women in Insurance, I am filled with immense pride and gratitude for all that we have achieved together. When I joined the committee in 2014, I was inspired by the vision of creating a supportive and empowering community for women in our industry. Little did I know that this organisation would grow into such a powerful force.

In 2017, I had the honour of becoming the Chairlady, a role that allowed me to work closely with... Read more

Backing, empowering and investing in women, will help your business bloom

Backing, empowering and investing in women, will help your business bloom, here's why: As women continue to invest, they will continue to shape what has historically been a male-dominated and male-driven financial industry... Read more

Empowered women empower society

Although gender inequality remains rife globally, significant strides are being made on one of society's most influential platforms: the boardrooms of big businesses. There is consensus that change in workplaces in Africa and around the world generally... Read more

How does financial stress affect your health?

There's no escaping the fact that financial stress looms large.

A nationwide survey of more than 3,000 adults published by Thrive Global and the credit card Discover in March 2022, found that 90 percent reported that money was a source of stress.

About two-thirds of respondents reported feeling like they can't overcome the financial difficulties... Read more

Six health changes you may face after menopause

Legal talk: top tips to safely date online in South Africa

Long gone are the days of having to strike up relationships in the "real world", as finding Mister or Missus Right (or Right Now) has become as simple as creating a profile on a dating app and getting somewhat of a thumb workout. But, while online dating is a convenient way of meeting new people and possibly finding lasting love, it's essential to consider the risks, to safely date online in South Africa... Read more
