AMPLIFYING RELATIONSHIPS FOR REAL IMPACT AT BOARD LEVEL

GWII LEADERWALK
SERIES PRESENTS

Having worked with thousands of local and global leaders, Brad Shorkend, a high performance coach, TEDx speaker and author, has identified the systemic behavioural issue faced at Exco and Board levels today when navigating the complexity of leading a business, working with other wildly different humans and making difficult collective decisions. As the saying goes, "Leadership is not something you do to others; rather you do it with others" – including with your Exco and Board.

He proposes a model of preconditions for high impact leadership agility, risk-taking, innovation and effective execution to face less hard moments and obtain a competitive advantage as a leadership team using the power of invisible but high density relationships built on trust, candour and intent.

ABOUT THE LEADERWALK CONCEPT

The Leaders' Walk has been created by Business Engage to nurture the development of aspiring leaders and to help them unlock their future potential. This is done during an event that will encourage meaningful engagement and dialogue.
